Provincial Treasurer in Claresholm

Claresholm was favored with a visit last Saturday morning from the representative of this riding, Hon. Malcolm McKeown, Provincial Treasurer, his first visit since he returned from England on official business. He went very carefully into the needs of the district and met quite a large deputation of his constituents, some from the extreme western part of the constituency. After hearing of local needs and promising his attention, the member entered into an informal discussion with those present of matters of general legislation that would be of benefit generally. The matter of making the collection of small debts less expensive and more satisfactory seemed to give most discussion and the minister promised to make a study of this matter and try to evolve some remedial legislation along this line. Other questions came up for discussion, on which the member will have more to say later.

Speaking of the trip to England and its mission, the minister declared that Canadian securities were losing favor in the old land markets. The country there are regarded as choice investments. It was not because of any suspicion as to the worth of such securities that the interest demanded was higher than that offered by other contributory causes such as the increased cost of living and the multitude of offerings owing to the phenomenal growth of the country. The feeling of the provincial debentures was accomplished with comparative ease and very advantageously as to price. It was difficult for the English people to realize the rapidity of the growth of the province and the West generally but there was no feeling that Canada was borrowing too much. The men of the money market have kept themselves well posted as to conditions here and they know to what extent of safety capital may be invested in this country. The minister promised a very much increased attention to this country of a very desirable class of British immigrants this year. Mr. McKeown is very optimistic of the successful outcome of the A. & G. W. dispute when the verdict is announced.

Agriculture Taught in Rural Schools

Acting in co-operation with the provincial department of agriculture, the minister of education, will during the summer organize a series of short course schools in agriculture for teachers of rural schools, and hereafter an elementary course in agriculture will be part of the rural schools curriculum. "It is the intention of the department to give all pupils in rural schools an elementary course in agriculture," said Hon. John R. Boyle, Minister of Education, in a statement made to the press. The policy of his department and this will be followed up by establishing and sustaining agricultural colleges at all the provincial government demonstration farms. These colleges, which will all be operated by the department of education and the department of agriculture, will be for the boys and girls after they have left school, and these institutions they will be given advanced education in scientific and practical farming and in the domestic arts. Mr. Boyle also announced that it was the policy of the department to encourage manual training and domestic science in all schools in the province.

The chief ideas of the provincial government in these matters are receiving the support and approval of prominent educationalists all over the West, and in fact all over the Dominion, and it is predicted that other provinces will shortly be forced to take up the work along these lines which has been so ably started by the Alberta government.

Meadow Creek News

Meadow Creek has always been noted for its excellent dances and the Masquerade Ball given Friday night sustained the reputation of the Creek in that regard. A good sized crowd of masquers, in every conceivable costume danced until supper was served. After the unmaking, dancing was continued until early morning. Rick Bros. furnished excellent music. Much credit is due to the members of the committee, Messrs. Foxcroft, Valand and Bell, for the success of the dance.

The annual meeting of the ratemakers of this school district will be held on Saturday, Jan. 25th.

Sidney Lamb sold some of his hogs, a very even bunch, to Price & Walls, last week.

R. G. Bissett is leading his wheat at present. Since coming to Meadow Creek, Mr. Bissett has raised nothing but No. 1 grain with the exception of 1911.

Mr. McKinnon gave a card party for the younger set last week.

The Carleton Place, U. F. A. are giving a dance on the 26th.

D. Jeffries has purchased some of D. E. Vanborn's milch cows and is going to the dairy business.

J. T. Vance sold about fifty hogs to P. Burns & Co. last week.

These cold days the Meadow Creek folks wish that R. G. Bissett would send that nice cold winter to his place and save them the long haul from town.

Business Booms for Secretary Watt

Entries are pouring in for the Seed Grain and Poultry Show next Wednesday. The secretary has received over 150 for the poultry classes and numerous entries for the seed grain class already and expects that over 400 will be the total when the entries close strictly and neatly. Birds are coming from Calgary, Lethbridge and other points in the province. Indications point to a very successful show for this inaugural effort of the Society.

The provincial legislature will open on Feb. 11th.

First Hockey Served up Hot Sympathy, Brethren, Please

FAST GAME WITH PARKING. CLARESHOLM WINS 2-1.

For the first time this season, hockey appeared on the sporting menu for the Claresholmites. Parkland drifted in on a high wind, a bunch of lucky hockeyists and Captain Moffatt lashed his men for the battle. The ice was in very fair condition at the rink and a large crowd gathered to witness the fray. In the "Claresholm" game, visible over the big stick, was A. J. Groves with his eagle eye. He was a very light, as he glared at the back of P. J. Noyes, the "stone wall" point man. "Dud," a war-paint and feather, laid down cover-cups, and with "Larry" Bell, on his tips, eagerly awaiting the whistle. M. A. Lebow, at right and P. H. Hanson, at left, with Spike Anderson, filling up the centre, strained at the leash, like veritable "dogs of war." The referee, J. E. Moffatt, rang the bell and the business started. "The game was a swift one and there was not a moment that anyone of the players could sit down to think of over, except "Dud" who decimated the fence, for one minute periods four or five times during the engagement. "Dud" and "Larry" were like bees, when they try to put your finger on them, they were not there. "Spike" worked like a Trojan all the time and bored into every attempted combination like a welder. Shots were mined on the goalkeepers at both ends but during the first 30 minutes only one had snuck past. Partly legs. The Parkland goal the North Pole had been discovered very early in the half and again as time was about expired. For some intervals, two Claresholm men were on the fence at one end and for the referee, it must be said that he was as impartial an officer as we have seen. Parkland players were seldom found guilty of a misdemeanor and in consequence were very rarely penalized. In the last half a little dispute occurred which ended in a five-minute rest for Larry and also for the opposing "white hogs." A long shout from centre, glancing off a Claresholm player, gave the visitors the lone tally of the second half and made the score 2-1, at which it remained till the end. "Dud" was seldom seen in his position at cover but he was seen every-where else at once. For the first game of the season it was a revelation to the onlookers, the material that was at hand in town for a winning hockey team. The Parkland boys scored with a snappy argument and the game was not at all one-sided. A little more accuracy in shooting, a developed combination, and Claresholm will take some beating. With a little more room for the spectators and plenty of games, the townfolk will attend and by having the games judiciously advertised, the financial and should cause no worry. If the high snowbank blows away there will be no place to view the game except to come through the gate and let loose two bits, as the weather is too cold to open a grand stand in the city of Van's barn.

Notice to Curlers

The fact that the Claresholm Curling Club is now incorporated and that no stock certificates can be issued till the dues are paid compels the Secretary Treasurer to insist that the membership fees still in arrears be paid at once. The by-laws of the Club provides that any member whose fees are not paid shall be barred from playing in any Club matches until such dues are paid. "It shall be the duty of the Executive to take cognizance of any default herein, and enforce the rules." Members in arrears will please pay same to the Secretary at once.

R. E. Moffatt, Secretary-Treasurer.

New Secretary-Treasurer Appointed Nominations

Next Tuesday

The council met last Thursday evening in regular session, all the councillors being present except Councilman James who was under the weather. The most important item of business was the appointment of a secretary-treasurer to take the place made vacant by the resignation of Geo. Simpson, who has held the office for some time. Mr. Simpson offered to be relieved last year but the council of 1911 persuaded him to retain the position for one year longer at least. The council of 1912 were not so successful and it became necessary to appoint a successor. The resignation of Councilman Reynolds was read and, in view of the fact that Mr. Reynolds was an applicant for the vacant office, his resignation was accepted by the council. There were two applicants for the secretaryship. F. E. Harvey asked a salary of $100 per month. Mr. Reynolds was willing to accept the office at the same remuneration the late secretary had received, viz., $1000 per year. The council accepted Mr. Reynolds' application. He is requested to establish his headquarters at the Council Chamber and to keep office hours probably coincident with bank hours. A meeting of the directors will be called for next Tuesday to nominate a successor to the council board.

A Mr. McKee, of High River, asked for a license to conduct a moving picture show in the building adjoining the Queen's Hotel. There was some discussion as to whether or not the council should purchase a transformer which was settled by the council agreeing to purchase the transformer which is really needed in that part of the town. The cost is about $70. A license was granted Mr. McKee at the usual rate, $50. The request of A. Chamberlain for permission to erect wireless telegraph apparatus on the Council Hall building was granted provided it does not interfere with the rights of any licensed station. The petition of Thos. Guy requesting a reduction of the liquor license which was referred to the finance committee, was not granted.

Nomination for Councillor

Notices are displayed about town calling a meeting of the ratemakers for 11 o'clock on Tuesday, Jan. 28th, at the Council Chamber, for the purpose of nominating a candidate or candidates to take the place on the council board vacated by J. F. Reynolds. As 72 per cent of the ratemakers voted at the election in December in favor of Jack McKinnay, it would be a most reasonable and logical thing to do, to honor that gentlemen and his supporters and at the same time save the cost of standing upon an election, in which little, if any, real interest will be manifested, by returning him by acclamation. If he would consent to allow his nomination to be entered, no aspirants for the office have been mentioned as yet, as far as could be learned.

Union Service Sunday Evening

The Alberta Temperance and Moral Reform League have sent their representative, Rev. W. F. Gold, to address a meeting next Sunday evening here. The services in the local Presbyterian and Methodist churches have been withdrawn for the evening and a union service addressed by Rev. Gold will be held in the Methodist Church commencing at 7 p. m. This meeting will be of a very interesting character and everyone is invited to be present. Special appropriate music will be a feature of the evening.

Fine Whist Trophies

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Guy have offered two handsome trophies for the whist players' competition, one as a prize for the body winning and one for the gentleman. Tested of conducting the progressive contest each evening this contest will be carried through six evenings. The first will be Tuesday, Feb. 14th and for the next five Wednesdays ensuing, commencing Feb. 19th. The results of the six evenings' play will decide the ownership of the handsome trophies.

Another Fire at Okotoks

Great excitement was occasioned at Okotoks last Friday morning at 11 o'clock when fire broke out in a new double storied frame house across the street from the Grand Central Hotel. The flames gained a hold so quickly that the children in the building were rescued with difficulty and a woman whose escape had been cut off was forced to jump from a second story window into a blanket of snow. Her hands were badly burned.

There was no water, so the fire brigade was powerless and had to stay by the house until the flames could be extinguished. The house was used as a millinery store and for the telephone exchange, so communication by telephone was impossible last night.

Railway to Grande Prairie Tills Year

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 22.—Track layers in the employ of the Edmonton, Dunaville and British Columbia Railway Company who are putting down from one to two miles of steel every working day, will cover the 80 miles of completed grade early in March. A. C. Gilmuth, superintendent of construction, said to-day that climatic conditions have not interfered in the least with the work north of Edmonton, promising that the operations will continue throughout the winter. Preparations are being made for next summer's work. Several hundred men are in camp at Mile 100 cutting ties and getting ready to resume grade work. One hundred teams are employed at present. The company is making an effort to reach the Grande Prairie country before the close of 1913. The road will be extended to the western shore of Lesser Slave Lake.

Passed the Half Way

Games in the Calgary Brewing & Malting Co. Cup draw, since our last issue are as follows: On Friday evening last, Betts defeated Cunningham, 9-8. On Saturday night Turner turned the trick on Barnes, 8-4; and Langmuir won over Basse, 9-6. Monday evening Simpson defeated Betts, 12-0; Moffatt won from Melbyre, 17-0. The games on Tuesday night were stubbornly contested, the last being the deciding one. Barnes 12-Cunningham 11 and Melbyre 10-Simpson 7. Wednesday evening Holmes won from Simpson, 9-7 and Tucker won in the 15th end from the Langmuir rink, 14-12.

Exhibition and Sale of Seed Grain

The purpose of the Claresholm Agricultural Society in inaugurating a Seed Grain Show, is to give the farmer an opportunity to see what is available in his own district, seed which has proved to be suitable for the climate and other conditions of his own neighborhood, and to secure it at reasonable prices. It also gives the growers of good seed grain an opportunity to let others know and see for themselves what he has to dispose of in the line of good seed. It is intended to encourage the growing of pure seed. In wheat, oats, peas and barley, one bushel must be shown and in grass seeds, hay and potatoes, one-half bushel. The exhibition of this sample is permitted only on the condition that the quantities of seed for sale, as per the same exhibition, are at least 50 lbs. wheat, 30 lbs. oats, 20 lbs. barley, 3 lbs. timothy, 5 lbs. native grass and 1 lb. alfalfa. The samples must be labelled, after judging, with the name and address of the exhibitor, the name of the variety, the amount of seed for sale and the selling price.

One of the most important rules governing the seed grain contest is the one that refers to the presence of noxious weeds in the exhibit. At many of the other fairs in the country some of the best samples of seed grain were ruled out on this account. The judges are inclined to be very particular and rightly so.

Boast the "Poultry Show" all you can. The fact is that have been held in this association to induce the breeding of good poultry stock in the neighborhood is worthy of support. The amount of good publicity that the town obtains from shows of this nature repays the effort. Turn out to the show if you cannot be an exhibitor and talk it up with your friends. Encourage this first attempt in every way possible so that it will become a fixture. Interest show by the townspeople is as much to be desired as that by the farmers.

Mr. Hunt's Lecture

Those who attended the lecture last Monday night at the Methodist church were well repaid for the effort. A very fair attendance greeted Mr. Hunt. His selections were admirably chosen to bring out the best of the "Habitué" series and the comment of the lecturer and the interpretation of any obscure words, phrases in the patois made the beauty more appreciated. The Epworth League made no mistake in their selection of this lecture for their program.

A STRIKING CHARACTER

ARTHUR BALFOUR IS A GREAT LOSS TO UNIONISTS.

Brilliant, Parliamentary Did Not Look Very Promising at First, But Britain Soon Learned His Calibre—He is a Wonderful Debater, But Can Never Remember Figures and Requires Prompting.

With Mr. Balfour's disappearance from his old place on the front bench—and his resignation of the leadership, he seemed the extraordinary man—less frequent in attendance than usual—there disappears the most winning personality in modern politics and the most successful practitioner of the political art in a period conspicuously rich in political talent.

It is interesting to recall the scene whereby he gained his extraordinary ascendancy in the House of Commons. He suffered Parliament by accident for Hunt in 1874. He did not willingly follow the path of a Parliamentary leader. For the first two years of his membership the voice was never heard in debate. His last were won. With his head resting on the back of the chair and with his long legs indolently extended, he would gaze at the speaker, as though his thoughts were occupied rather with philosophy than with the political present. This was his regular way, a member of the Fourth Party, together with Lord Salisbury, Lord Randolph Churchill and with Gladstone, in a famous cabinet of the period. It was in June, 1884, when Mr. Balfour had been in Parliament for ten years, that he was elected to the leadership of the Conservative Party. In the following year, after having been secretary for Scotland for a few months, came the famous rout in the career. To the surprise of the entire world, he was announced as Chief Secretary for Ireland.

The death, in 1901, of Mr. W. H. Russell opened his way to the leadership of the House of Commons. By that time the country knew of his powers to accept him with hopeful enthusiasm. He justified that confidence.

British Parliamentary annals contain the records of few more leniently drawn fights than that between himself and Mr. Gladstone in the famous debate on the great Liberal leader's Home Rule bill. With unfailing generosity Mr. Gladstone, both in public and private, accorded the highest praise to the courage and the tactical resource of his opponent. When in 1902 Lord Salisbury, rather unexpectedly, handed in his resignation it was universally recognized that Mr. Balfour was his one possible successor.

More than once Mr. Balfour showed how to place the interests of England above the advantage of party. Party interests might have counselled resignation when the Tariff Reform controversy arose. Mr. Balfour stood at his post because a change of Government would have meant a disaster to the country.

He had exerted a deplorable influence at a moment when Russia and Japan were at war. Patience and fidelity to duty were qualities which Mr. Balfour displayed in his last Premiership. After the great catastrophe of the House of Commons, he was authorized and when even his own constituency rejected him, his courage never failed. The City of London chose him as its member with delight, and he returned to a new House of Commons to vindicate his greatness.

Mr. Balfour's shining qualities as a Parliamentary warrior were his brilliant strength, the mental agility, and his delicate gentleness. Skeptical, anxious not to face the truth, and his delicate gentleness. Skeptical, anxious not to face the truth, and his delicate gentleness. Skeptical, anxious not to face the truth, and his delicate gentleness.

Mr. Balfour's main difficulty in debate was the citation of figures and dates. It was one of the sports of the House to watch him on these occasions. A row of colleagues on the Opposition benches would get their whippers ready.

"The Government," says Mr. Balfour, "are reducing our procedure to a travesty. This motion was brought in only on Monday."

"Tuesday," whispered Mr. Littleton in the ear of the great speaker. "On Tuesday, and now we are asked for the Government to pass a resolution, involving £2,000,000."

"£2,000,000," whispered Mr. Walter Long. "£2,000,000, and we are asked for a vote only four days."

"Three days," whispers Mr. Chamberlain. "Exactly, thank you. Three days. Sir, that is worse. We are allowed only three days before the House meets, their guttles are to come down on the further discussion in the House of Commons."

Mr. Balfour's pet phrase and pet word were in a sense typical of his mind. His pet phrase was "broad constitutional principles." His pet word "whimsical."

Of course, a man with such a head and such a face and such brains must be found of music and art. Mr. Balfour is devoted to both. A couple of volumes of Schumann were his constant solace when he was in Downing street.

The Unionist party is losing a brilliant leader, a fascinating human influence, a deft and dainty controller of the changing forces of Unionism.

The hockey team from the Maelock school came up here last Friday evening and took our boys into camp to the turn of 4-2. The school team will go from here for the return match about day next week. R. K. Peck went to Staveland last Thursday to hold a meeting of those interested in the securing of a Grain Growers' elevator at that point. The weather had its effect on the turnout. He secured subscriptions for shares amounting to over $3500, however, in spite of the cold attendance. A similar meeting was held at Gratum on Saturday and with fair success.

The committee at the skating rink will increase the room for the spectators of the hockey games by lengthening the space in front of the waiting room. This will accommodate a larger crowd for the next game and if the boys continue to put up the brand of hockey which they did at the opening game the additional space will be needed. The boys deserve the patronage of all.

While engaged in filling the gas tank of his engine on Wednesday last week, Leo Elgin had a very narrow escape from serious injury and perhaps the loss of his barn. The tank flew owing to a clogged pipe and exploded throwing the burning fluid over him. By rolling in a convenient snow bank the flames were extinguished before he had sustained any injury and fortunately the flaming gasoline did not set fire to the barn. His friends congratulated him on his escape.

The federal government are considering the establishment of a parcel post in connection with the postal service. While this may be boon to the small order firms and thus a minor injury to the local merchants it is thought that this will be amply compensated for by the advantages the system will give to the smaller merchants in reducing their bills for express and enabling them to secure goods for their customers, which they do not carry in stock, much quicker and more cheaply.

W.G.T.U.

Governor William T. Haines, of Maine, in his inaugural address, among many other things, says: "If the people rule, as I believe they should, this question is settled, and no public office has any authority to do otherwise than to execute the law against liquor selling in a faithful and impartial manner. I shall do all in my power, during my term of office, to encourage the honest enforcement of all our statutes against the liquor traffic; and I ask all good citizens who have the love of their fellow men at heart to join with me in this undertaking. I especially ask the press of the state, without regard to its political or party allegiance, to help in creating a public sentiment against rum selling and rum drinking. I can do more to help or more to hinder in this cause than any other influence in the state. No one can doubt the curse of intoxicating liquor to those who use them. Science has proved their certain destruction to health and life.

"Business no longer tolerates them. The man seeking employment with rum on his breath, finds no work, but is relegated to the realm of trampdom. The business man who indulges in its use very soon finds that he has no credit at the bank. The transportation companies do not find it safe to employ men who drink.

The farmer who returns home from town drunk has the contempt of his neighbor, his wife and children, and their pity and sympathy. The professional man who was once called skillful, with the remark that it is too bad he drinks," is now called a fool for throwing his life away. No sane man in the light of modern investigation and science, can give any excuse for the use of intoxicating liquors or for the grog shops from which they are dispensed.

Are Tired of the Buffaloes

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 20—Business men of Wainwright, Alta., gave behind a movement to petition the government to move a herd of more than a thousand head of buffalo from Buffalo park, south of the town, to another location. The idea prevails that several hundred energetic farmers settled on the land would do more to promote the development of Wainwright and central Alberta generally than the bison now occupying the park. The herd was formerly owned by a rancher in Montana, who sold it to the government. It has increased largely in the last few years and the animals are in excellent condition. F. T. Fisher, secretary of the Edmonton Board of Trade and the Central Development League, who has just returned from Wainwright, reports that the board of trade there favors the plan of moving the ancient roamers of the plains to another park.

Major Sam Sharpe will advocate in the federal house that representative farmers be summoned to Ottawa to give their opinions and views on the bank act and upon the amendments proposed.
